When people are so genuinely living a godly life, one cannot help but be touched and inspired. I feel very blessed that Bob Weaver was a part of Westside Youth. As everyone else has shared, he always had a kind word and that terrific smile. I was always made to feel special when I talked with Bob. I know he made all the young people in our group feel loved and cared for. He also helped me with my 15 minutes, well, 10 mins. of fame. I was selected to be a reporter for EHS News and Views at KTVE and when I arrived excited, but very nervous - there was Mr. Weaver, all smiles and reassurance! Blessings and comfort to Kristin and Evelyn and family. Thank you for sharing such a special man with us all.

Dear Evelyn and family, I am so sorry for your loss. Bob always seemed so glad to see me, and always offered a smile and a hug, and sincere concern for me. He treated everyone that way. He is one in a million. Although it is so hard to do without him, I know, we are all blessed to have known him and had him as an example and encouragement. He blessed and encouraged so many people. I know my Me Ma, Mary Spencer, and my Granddaddy, Jim Spencer Jr., were so happy to be rejoined with their old friend, Bob Weaver! Heaven has another loving, welcoming presence. I wouldn't doubt it if he was one of the "greeters" in heaven.

Evelyn and family, I am thankful I took the time to write Bob a letter several years ago and express how much he meant to me. After living my entire life in Wisconsin, my first job after college took me to KTVE in El Dorado. I arrived in a 1985 Pontiac Parisienne with everything I owned and spent my first few nights in town under the Weavers' roof until I found an apartment. Bob asked me every week to join him at church on Sunday. I did once. The station secretary Jo Shipman assured me that Bob would stop asking eventually, and he did. But what Bob never stopped doing was caring about me. He never stopped modeling a Christian walk unfamiliar to me. When state representative Bobby Newman of Smackover stormed into the station one day and read me the riot act because he didn't like a story I did Bob listened from his office and let me take it for a while but soon came out and rose to my defense, causing the legislator to storm out angrier than when he arrived. I commented to Bob that I was surprised to see a strong Christian man get so riled up... "Aren't you supposed to turn the other cheek?" Bob instructed me that being a Christian is not synonymous with being a pushover. He told me about Jesus overturning the moneychangers' tables in the temple and how Jesus would recognize wrong and offer stern corrections and rebukes. What Bob was really doing was making it clear to me that his life and actions were based on something. He didn't make it up as he went along. He didn't practice situational ethics. The Bible and Christ was his source of strength and direction, and if I wanted to influence people the way Bob influenced me then I might want to follow his lead. Some bosses inspire anger or rebellion. Others inspire fear or timidity. I was truly blessed to have Bob as my first boss. He didn't teach me much about writing or editing or storytelling. But the things he did teach me have benefited not only all the bosses who have followed him but also my wife and my children. Honesty, kindness, patience and concern are character traits Bob modeled everyday. Thankfully an impressionable college graduate far from home was paying attention. Bob did take the time to teach me how to properly fill out an expense report. Even today when I do this task, I think of him and am thankful God intersected our paths for a short while. I had the privilege of meeting Bob the summer he and Evelyn worked at Yellowstone. He was one of those rare people who instantly became a friend for life. He was genuine, warm, generous and would do anything in the world for you. He was just so good at loving people. He was a blessing and a treasure to me and so many others whose lives he touched. I am so grateful for the opportunity to have known him and I will miss him greatly. My heart and prayers go out to Evelyn and the entire Weaver clan.

Wow! I remember making tea with lots of sugar, and lemon, in your kitchen for a big family dinner around the table, and how you welcomed me as a part of your family. I think I probably just walked in your house like I belonged. Cindy and I, and sometimes Kristen, spent many an hour playing all around the blocks around our houses, in their mirrored bedroom, and at my house. Remember the time we spied on the hitchhiker, and got a big talking to when we got home (imagine that!) Cindy even taught me to play Indian poker (it took me forever to figure out the role of the mirror). We journeyed through many life passages together. And Mr. Weaver? What a great dad. He always had a smile for us, oh, not to say we never got under his skin, but he had a great sense of humor, and his eyes crinkled up when he smiled, which was often. I can hear his voice now, what a treasure of memories we all share of your wonderful husband and father. You have been blessed with family, and knew the keys to the journey that we all make in life. Your belief in our God, and your fellowship with our family remain clear in my heart and mind. I will hold you in my thoughts and prayers as you walk through this new journey. Blessings, Rebecca Camp Thompson

I was saddened to read of Bob's passing. He was and will remain one of my very favorite people I have come to know at Walmart. It was like we were old friends every time I walked through the door and saw him or was leaving, sharing stories about our mutual health or life in general. I had always hoped he would be able to return to Walmart as he seemed to enjoy it so much. To me, he was truly one of the decent people in the world, and will continue to be in my thoughts and prayers. My sincere condolences to his family and close friends. Mike Thrasher

There are friends, good friends, and pastor's friends. Bob Weaver qualified in all categories. Bob was the best friend this pastor ever had. Evelyn was right there with him in all he did -- serving the Lord and building God's kingdom. We will miss his fellowship and phone calls. He loved all who served the Lord. His gift was loving people. And no one entered the doors of his church without him making them glad they had come. Of course, he loved his family and would make any sacrifice for them. And he was very proud of his "red" head, as he lovingly referred to his bride. Bob left an example for us all to follow. And follow him we will one day soon when the Lord returns. If I go before the Lord returns I expect to see Bob just inside the pearly gates, greeting people as they arrive. All of the Weavers are in our prayers. We love you!

Although I felt a sense of sadness when I learned today of Bob's death, I remembered those times when I witnessed Bob's quiet faith in action and felt comforted. I saw him in El Dorado as he served his church and his community. I remember hearing of times that he helped those in need (never hearing of it from him but from those he helped). I saw him as a dedicated scoutmaster. I heard of his mission trips to the orphanages in the Ukraine to help those children who could not help themselves. I am sure his many friends know of many more examples of his love and service. Since Bob tried to keep his good deeds to himself, I am sure that there are many of which I am unaware. I do know that he trusted in the eternal and unconditional love of his heavenly Father. It was an honor to have been his friend and to have witnessed a life well-lived.
