It was such a surprise to open the morning paper and read about Becky. Everyone who knows Becky will greatly miss her. I love her sense of humor. Although I was older than Lesa and Derek, I was accepted as a friend. When thinking about Becky, I still see us all sitting around eating while having some wonderful fellowship and many belly laughs. While most of the family probably remember me as extremely quiet, Becky brought out the lighter more adventurous side of me and I am so glad for that. While we on this side view her death as her going from us, Jesus and those of her family and friends who have gone before were watching last Thursday and saying things such as, "Look! Here comes Becky!" "Welcome home, Becky!" Somehow, I feel that Becky would tell us to celebrate her life! Linda Evans
