I would just like to say thank you to Roy and for what he has done in our families lives and for what he has done for Jo (my grandma). When i first learned that she was in love with this man, i didnt know what to think. i didnt want to be any part of it, bc i wanted MY other grandpa. but i got to spend more time with him and began to love him more than i think i could ever! and when she asked my approval i said of course! Now i just wish that they could have spent more time together. :( but o well, i know that they will be together again with time. and he will always be with me, and he will always be missed, not forgotten. THOUGH HE IS NOT HERE PHYSICALLY, HE IS HERE MENTALLY AND SPIRITUALLY. We love u Roy!

MY ROY was A very special,and anyone who knew him liked him. He was careing, giving,easy going and would help anyone he could when they needed. He was also very stubborn,and boy did he have a temper. Roy could fix anything and he made every thing he did look easy.Roy taught me what true love and marriage was all about and thats its not all one sided. He let me know that I could depend on him that he would be there for me, to take care of me.He made me feel so special,young,pretty and very muched loved and he spoiled me rotten.I don't question why and don't under stand why GOD took him from me I guess he needed him . I thank GOD every day for the short time I had with him.I know he's happy in heaven, but I sure miss him here with me so much.I miss the four or five calls a day from him telling me how much he loved and miss me and just wanted to hear my voice, and that he was falling more in love by the minute.He swore he would teach me patience.I never had a douth that Roy didn't love me in spite of my faults, and He knew I loved Him with all of meHome Grown by Jo (cowboys trouble) 3-10-04

I know Roy to be a wonderful, loving, generous person. He brightened Jo's world and he was filled with joy and covered in smiles when he was with her. God gave them a great love. We don't know why their time together was so short---but we know that it was a blessing to them both! My friend Jo, I wish you peace- you are loved. I was very upset when I found out that my all time favorite great uncle past away. I was in a total shock of mind when my mother called me to tell me the sad news. I was able to be in Arkansas back years ago when I was turning 16 years old. We have always kept in touch. I was sad when Roy lost his wife. The I was really happy for him for meeting someone that he was able to have by his side. I was very grateful for Roy to come out to Morro Bay to visit with his brother prior to his brother's wife passing on. We spent numerous hours hoping that everyone would be well and back in GREAT shape. I guess that was not possible. I was also fortunate that Roy was able to meet two important people in my life and that was my lovely husband John and our son J.J. Hughes. Roy was also fortunate to have numerous pictures of our family as well as our child's races. Roy will be missed by several people. For those that knew him he was a great and loving person. R.I.P. Roy.... I love You and will miss you! Love, John, Kim & J.J. Hughes

Roy was one of the "good guys"...He showed up out of the blue one day not long ago, and told me he was in lovewith my mom.... and that he would likemy approval to marry her... What a Shock... at first it was totally hard to accept, until I got to spend a little timewith him and I realized what a wonderful person he is and how happy he made my mother. It was like a couple of kids falling in love for the first time. So all I can really say is THANK YOU, Roy !! For coming into our lives, especially what you have done for my mom.You will be in our hearts FOREVER !!We Love You,Willie, Teresa, Bianca, Sathina & Desirae

I spend most of childhood with Roy as my father figure, and although I haven?t keep in touch as well as I should have. I would like to say that I would not be where I am today without the life lessons I learned from Roy. He taught me that any problem could be solved with enough effort. He never felt like a ?step-dad? he was just Dad.Rest in peace Dad, you did a good job.

I never got to meet Roy. Seems if I wasn't sick, he was. We didn't know each other but didn't want to expose the other so we'd say our "How do's" through Jo. Apparently, he lived his life considering other people's welfare above his own. I do know he made Jo as giggly as a teenager and she'd blush like one too when I'd ask "How's Roy?" He made her happier than I'd ever seen her. He also helped her through some rough times too. From all accounts, he was what we from the "deep south" call a real man's man. I'm glad they had as much time together as they did. It was a blessing for both. Just remember Jo, Roy just earned those wings so don't drive any faster than your guardian angel can fly!

We are so sad at the loss of a wonderful friend and neighbor. Roy had a heart as big as Texas and would do anything for anybody. I will always remember how he always looked out for my elderly parents who lived next door. Every time I would visit, if he was outside, he would always have a big grin and a wave, and in more recent times, even though it was obvious he didn't feel well, you would never know it by his actions or cheerfulness. He will be missed more than he would ever know. God bless all of you in his family. Love, Cherrie Miller (daughter of Andy and Nadine Andrews)
