

Lydia Madeline Hack

August 29, 1922 - December 31, 2016

On the final day of 2016, at age 94, Lydia Madeline DiCarlo Hack, passed peacefully surrounded by many in her family. Lydia was the last of the first generation born in America to Anthony and Madeline Fabbrini DiCarlo of Abbidia San Salvatore, Tuscany, Italy. She was predeceased by her husband of 51 years, Rudy Hack. Born with an infectious laugh and delightful sense of humor, Lydia was a truly gracious, humble person whose life and character revolved around devotion to family and faith. Her example instilled traits of honor and optimism in all who came to know her. As a lifelong Jehovah's Witness, it was her strong faith that defined every fiber of her life. She cherished being referred to as Grandma by many in her congregation. She is dearly missed by family members that include her sons, David and Danny and daughter, Gianna and their families, including two grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews. A memorial service officiated by Wayne Fisher will be conducted at Kingdom Hall, Bella Vista on Saturday, January 7, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.

Comments

“ A Grandma's Garden Table Basket was ordered on January 4, 2017

Expression of Sympathy - April 23, 2020 at 10:08 AM

“ My dear sweet family, Im at such a loss for words to tell you all how much Lydia will be missed, she was a wonderful delightful woman and sister. I will treasure my memories until we meet again. My love and prayers to all the family.

Becky Howard - April 23, 2020 at 10:08 AM